

Australian Government

Department of Veterans' Affairs

Medical Report - Mood Disorder or Anxiety Disorder Erectile Dysfunction

The information you provide on this form will assist in deciding eligibility for benefits under the Veterans' Entitlements Act 1986 and/or Military Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2004. In the event of an appeal against a decision, this information may be provided to the Veterans' Review Board, Administrative Appeals Tribunal or Federal Court.

Veteran's Details

Surname

Given Names

DVA File Number

Report Detail

A claim for service related compensation in respect of the above named leads the Department to consider whether a clinically significant mood disorder with depressive features or a clinically significant anxiety disorder could be a factor in the development of erectile dysfunction. The Repatriation Medical Authority has defined "clinically significant" as "sufficient to warrant ongoing management, which may involve regular visits (for example, at least monthly), to a psychiatrist, counsellor or general practitioner".

Would you please answer the following questions:

1. When was the clinical onset of erectile dysfunction?/...../.....
2. Has the veteran ever suffered from a clinically significant mood disorder with depressive features, or a clinically significant anxiety disorder?

☐

No - Please sign the form and return it to the Department

☐

Yes

3. Please provide the following details, including any periods when the mood or anxiety disorder was "clinically significant" as defined above.

Diagnosis of mood or anxiety disorder	Date of onset	Clinically significant		Therapy provided and by whom
		From	To
		/ /	/ /
		/ /	/ /

Details of Medical Practitioner providing advice:

Stamp

Signature

Folio: _____